

Static website generator

Calepin can be used as a lightweight static website generator. In fact, the entire Calepin website was itself built using Calepin itself, with the help of a few simple auxiliary scripts.

In the near term, these scripts will be ported to become first-class features of the Calepin app, which will then continue as both a computational notebook and static site generator.