

Synchronized tab groups

Give multiple tab containers the same group name to keep their selected panels synchronized in HTML output. The first two containers below belong to the language group. Selecting R or Python in either one changes both.

First synchronized container

R

The first container is showing its R content.

Python

The first container is showing its Python content.

Second synchronized container

R

The second container follows the first container to R.

Python

The second container follows the first container to Python.

Independent container

This container has no group argument, so its selection changes independently of the two containers above.

R

This independent container is showing its R content.

Python

This independent container is showing its Python content.