

Templates are not quite supported yet, but much of the infrastructure for partials and minijinja templates is there. At the CLI, things could look like:

```
calepin compile paper.typ --format html --template pico
```

```
calepin compile paper.typ --format html --template basic
```

--template is optional and only applies to HTML output. Use pico and basic to force either built-in theme on HTML output.